

2 REGIONAL CHAMBERS MEET

TEXAS REAL ESTATE BEARING AN UNFAIR SHARE OF TAXATION

RESOLUTION TO THIS EFFECT ONE OF SEVERAL ADOPTED BY WEST TEXAS C. OF C.

By HOWARD C. MARSHALL.
WICHITA FALLS, April 25.—(P)—The important works committee of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce declared today real estate in Texas was bearing an unfair share of governmental cost and the ad valorem tax on such property for state purposes should be abolished.

A resolution to this effect was one of a number adopted for submission to directors of the convention which began its 20th annual session today at a banquet of blaring, marching bands and with thousands pouring into town for a big program of work and play.

The first resolution approved by the committee said it was impossible to give relief to the taxpayers through a reduction of local public expenditures and the state should partially ease the burden on real property.

Property representing only one-third of the wealth of the state is carrying practically 75 per cent of the taxes raised in the state for state and local government.

Another closely related resolution meeting committee approval declared opposition to punitive taxation and an enormous amount of business development.

Crude Oil Taxation.
Referring especially to efforts to increase taxes on crude oil, the resolution stated that from time to time proposals calculated unfairly to tax capital and business were offered and the result was to confiscate wells in West Texas, it said.

Still other resolutions declared for a soil and water conservation contest, apportionment of public school funds on an attendance basis, establishment of the Big Bend Park, a campaign to interest capital in West Texas, creation of a government agricultural research laboratory to be located at Texas Technological College in Lubbock, and amendment of state laws to place venue of land vacancy suits in counties where the land is situated and give the possessor prior resolution pertaining to activities right of purchase.

Most discussion centered on the of vacancy hunters, a vacancy being a strip between faulty surveys. Where it originally disposed of the land, the state claims title to vacancies, and an enormous amount of litigation has developed in efforts to establish titles.

Serious Condition Threatened.
Speakers said vacancy seekers "rain" were attempting to "exploit" land and owners a serious condition was threatened.

HELD AS POISONER OF BROTHERS

Elizabeth Wagner, 22 (left), factory worker, was held at New York after she confessed killing her two brothers, Henry and Charles, by feeding them rat poison with their meals for two weeks. Their mother, Marie Wagner, is shown with her daughter, who couldn't give a coherent reason, the district attorney's office said, for the poisonings.

REVISED MUNICIPAL BAPKRUPTCY ACT IS UPHELD BY COURT

JUSTICES M'REYNOLDS AND BUTLER DISSENTS FOR HIGH COURT RULING

WASHINGTON, April 25.—(P)—The supreme court ruled constitutional today the revised municipal bankruptcy act which permits cities, towns and villages to agree with creditors to reduce their indebtedness in federal bankruptcy courts.

The original act was held to violate state rights in a five to four opinion delivered by Justice McReynolds. Present members of the court who voted with him were Justices Butler and Roberts. Those dissenting were Chief Justice Hughes and Justices Cardozo, Brandeis and Stone.

DAMAGING FLOOD GAUDALUPE RIVER FEARED BY NIGHT

STREAM ALREADY SWIRLING OVER ITS BANKS IN CUERO SECTION

VICTORIA, April 25.—(P)—The Guadalupe river broke over levees above and below Victoria today and floodwaters were eating into the western outskirts of the city. Anticipating a flood of major proportions, Frank H. Crain, county Red Cross chairman and County Judge J. J. Woodhouse began organizing a disaster committee for rescue and relief work.

A message from U. S. Weather Observer J. H. Jarboe at San Antonio said the Guadalupe would reach a 24-foot stage here by Wednesday, but the river already stood at 26 feet and was rising rapidly.

Torrential downpours over the lower watershed of the river sent it surging over its banks. Rain fell at Yorkum was 12 inches, and elsewhere in this South Texas area precipitation ranged from two to six inches. Five inches fell here.

Houston, April 25.—(P)—Torrential rains sent the Guadalupe river swirling over its banks in the Cuero section at noon today and a major flood was expected to hit that section tonight, reports being general in the South Texas area.

A 11-inch deluge hit Yorkum, starting at 3 p.m. Sunday, and showers were still falling today. Though Yorkum, some 20 miles north of Cuero, is on the Guadalupe, rain water from that section will race into the river near Cuero.

Houston weatherman C. E. Norwest warned of a flood on the Guadalupe all the way from Cuero to Victoria, about the same distance downstream.

"Farmers are frantically driving their cattle from the lowlands around Cuero," the Chronicle's correspondent there declared. "The water has risen to 19 feet here and is coming up at the rate of about two feet per hour. It is already out of its banks in the lowlands and will be out here by night."

Cuero rainfall was 4.25 inches up to noon and it still was falling. Victoria, below Cuero on the Guadalupe, reported about five inches of rain, the heavy downpour being general in that section for the last 18 hours. Showers also continued there.

The river was near flood stage there and a heavy overflow is expected, probably worse than that at Cuero, where severe electrical storm accompanied the rain at Victoria. The Victoria-Cuero highway became impassable near Big Spring creek.

PRESIDENT SENDS TAX MESSAGE FOR CONGRESS MONDAY

ALL GOVERNMENT SALARIES AND BONDS WOULD BE MADE SUBJECT TO TAX

WASHINGTON, April 25.—(P)—President Roosevelt asked congress today to remove "promptly" tax exemptions on income from all future government bond issues—federal, state and local—and on all government salaries.

Existing exemptions, he said, resulted from judicial decisions and could be eliminated by "a short and simple statute" which he predicted the courts would uphold.

Some advocates of ending such exemptions have claimed a constitutional amendment would be necessary because of judicial decisions holding the federal government could not state bonds, nor the state government federal bonds.

Mr. Roosevelt said, however, that recent decisions indicated the courts were following a different line of thought from that which produced the earlier rulings.

The president's request for "prompt" action came as a surprise to many legislators and added to the problems of administration leaders trying to reach adjournment by the latter part of May.

Senators and representatives who handle tax legislation in committees were divided on whether the recommendations could be taken up at this session. Chairman Doughton (D-N.C.) of the house ways and means committee, said he did not know.

The ways and means committee logically would originate legislation on the subject.

Can Not Be Written In.
Doughton said the recommendations could not be written into the tax revision bill now pending in a joint conference committee.

"I'll have to study over the message to see what we can do," he told reporters.

Representative Treadway (R-Mass.), a member of the house ways and means committee, said he would favor the President's plan "we can accomplish it by legislation."

Senator McNary, the republican leader, said he thought the proposals might be enacted at this session.

Many told reporters he would not oppose them if he were convinced congress has the authority to legislate on the question. He added that in the past he had believed a constitutional amendment would be necessary.

Senator Walsh (D-Mass.), a member of the senate finance committee, said he favored the President's recommendation and thought it could be acted upon at this session.

Another finance committee member, Senator King (D-Utah) opposed the recommendation, saying a constitutional amendment would be necessary.

The president asserted exemption of securities from taxes, had created "a vast reservoir of tax-exempt securities in the hands of the very persons who equitably should not be relieved of taxes on their income."

"This reservoir now constitutes a serious menace to the fiscal

CZECHOSLOVAKIA IS AGAIN STORM CENTER EUROPEAN TROUBLES

GERMAN MINORITIES MAKING DEMANDS AND HUNGARY WANTS TERRITORY BACK

By the Associated Press.
A warning to French workers to knuckle down and increase production to avert totalitarian dictatorship, a defense and trade accord between Britain and Ireland and revolutionary demands from two quarters against Czechoslovakia today became new ingredients in the European stew.

Czechoslovakia's powerful German minority demanded autonomy while a land-hungry league of Hungarians called for return of upland Hungary, lost to Czechoslovakia in the World war settlement.

France's "strong man" Premier, Edouard Daladier, warned workers given to frequent strikes they must expect totalitarianism which would force them to work unless they stepped up production willingly.

Daladier announced cabinet approval of a plan for economic and financial rehabilitation to put into effect by decrees next week. He promised continued freedom of foreign exchange and adherence to the monetary accord with Britain and the United States.

The Anglo-Irish agreement slipped over the Irish desire to absorb Northern Ireland but provided for reciprocity in trade and strengthened Britain's defenses.

Reports from the world's wars told of a Spanish insurgent air attack on Valencia in which 30 persons were killed and of a change in the Japanese North China command.

Coincidentally with a report that General Count Juchi Terauchi had been recalled to Japan, succeeded by Lieut.-General Jun Ushiomiyama, Japanese forces made fresh advances on the Central Chinese front.

France-British Pact
To soothe this gush of discord a powerful military and diplomatic pact between France and Britain seemed in the making, promising somewhat to ally Britain's air force with French preparations for aerial warfare.

Political ministers of the Czechoslovak cabinet, meeting today, were expected to discuss a Sunday address by Karel Kramariz, "Fuehrer" of 3,500,000 Sudeten Germans.

Forty-One Cent Holdup Sends Trio To Electric Chair

By the Associated Press.

BELLEFONTE, Pa., April 25.—(P)—Three men died in Pennsylvania's electric chair early today for a "Lover's Lane" holdup that netted them 41 cents.

They were Edward Rose and John Oreszak, both 21, and Theodore Dunn, 20, all of Chester, Pa., members of a gang which the judge who condemned them to die called "the worst that ever came out of Chester."

The state charged the trio surprised Floyd Tranon, 35-year-old negro, and a girl friend parked in a car on a lonely road near Chester in July, 1933. They shot Tranon as he attempted to flee after surrendering all his money, and then attacked Tranon's companion.

FRANK B. NOYES RETIRED MONDAY AS HEAD OF A. P.

PLEDGE MADE TO RETIRING PRESIDENT ASSOCIATED PRESS TO CARRY ON

NEW YORK, April 25.—(P)—Frank B. Noyes, retiring president of the Associated Press in his farewell speech today urged the association's 1,400 member papers to "carry on the banner of an independent press."

As the veteran publisher ended his 33-year tenure of office, dating back to earliest pioneer days of the now world-journing news association, Paul Hollman, editor of the Cleveland, O., Plain Dealer, made him a last "gift" from the membership—a pledge dedicating the service "to the cause of truth in the news."

Noyes responded extemporaneously, saying: "Nothing could make me happier today than to know that you are not skeptical as the things we fought for from 1833 until now."

"It would be tragic to me if I did not believe the same feeling was with you today. I am happy in the belief that this generation goes on—carrying the banner of an independent press and the banner of the Associated Press as the representative of that independent press."

Robert McLean, publisher of the Philadelphia Bulletin, first vice president of the Associated Press, presided at the meeting. He broke precedent by offering a toast to Noyes, in addition to the customary

BUSINESSMEN EAST TEXAS HEAR STORY CITY'S COMEBACK

EAST TEXAS CHAMBER OF COMMERCE HOLDING ANNUAL SESSIONS LONGVIEW

LONGVIEW, April 25.—(P)—East Texas businessmen were told today how the heroic efforts of the leaders of Manchester, N. H., saved that place from economic ruin and gave it the name of "The City That Refused to Die."

William H. Zeller of Manchester, outlined for delegates of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce convention a new chapter in American city planning and economic development, and urged them they might well pattern after Manchester.

Zeller related the story of how Manchester businessmen, working cooperatively through their Chamber of Commerce, rehabilitated a huge industrial plant that failed during the depression and saved the city from ruin. He told how the city perpetuated and protected its principal source of income, and added:

"East Texas, one of the richest sections in the nation, looks prosperously full in the face today. But its cities, with their natural resources, raw products, cheap fuel, transportation facilities, ideal climate and other advantages, might well pattern after Manchester."

Raised Large Amount Cash.
The Manchester businessmen raised $500,000 in cash in five days when the New Hampshire city saw its largest industry closed down. One year later, the plant was 62 per cent occupied by manufacturing industries, 50 per cent of which had purchased the space they formerly rented. The job was done, Zeller said, and shortly thereafter an offer to sell the plant at more than a million dollars profit was refused.

Reaffirming their confidence in the future of East Texas, officials and delegates to the Chamber's 12th annual convention opened the session's first business meeting after a night of renewing acquaintances.

Dr. Fred Few of Longview gave the invocation and delegates were welcomed by Dr. Marvin Kelly of Longview, first president of the organization. The response was by George E. Adams of College Station and President L. Smith of Mexia was introduced.

The convention officially opened yesterday with a band concert on the lawn of the Gregg county Courthouse. Local church services were held at six churches with laymen as speakers.

Visitors "Throng City."
Throughout the day visitors thronged into this East Texas oil city by train, bus, and private conveyance. To attend what Chamber of Commerce officials and Longview citizens believed would be one of the greatest conventions in the organization's history.

FORD AUTOMOBILE WORKERS IN NEW DEPARTURE IN SEEKING AN ANNUAL MINIMUM WAGE PLAN

Fifty Killed In Resumption Valencia Raid

MADRID, April 25.—(P)—About 50 persons were killed and 200 wounded and three British freighters were hit by bombs or shrapnel today when insurgent airplanes subjected Valencia, former government capital, to one of the severest raids of the war.

One of the British vessels, the Stanlake, was sinking at her dock late today and it was not believed she could be saved.

One sailor was wounded aboard this vessel and two others aboard the Celtic Star, which was hit by shrapnel. The freighter Isadora of Belfast was hit just outside the harbor and was towed hastily to a dock for speedy unloading.

In the raid, just before noon, the waterfront section of the city, on the Mediterranean coast, suffered most.

Valencia had not been bombed for more than two months. The dead sailor belonged to the crew of the Stanlake, the wounded of the Celtic Star, both British vessels in the harbor at Valencia. First reports did not indicate whether either was hit directly.

Rotarians Meet in Austin.
AUSTIN, April 25.—(P)—Rotarians of south and southwest Texas began business sessions of a district convention here today. Governor James V. Allred was head as a principal speaker. Nominations for district governor also were scheduled.

DETROIT, April 25.—(P)—The first known attempt of workers in the automobile industry to obtain a guarantee of an annual minimum wage was revealed today by the Ford Brotherhood of America, an independent labor organization.

The brotherhood's goal is at least $1,500 a year for every hourly wage worker in the many-moth Rouge plant of the Ford Motor company in suburban Dearborn, where it claims a membership of 21,400. During peak production periods the factory has nearly 90,000 employees.

The F. B. A. disclosed that it has been negotiating with the company the past month, and after numerous conferences, submitted written contract proposals to the management Saturday.

Louis J. Colombo, Sr., Ford counsel, represented the company in the negotiations and turned over to Edsel Word, president of the concern, the brotherhood's proposals.

As far as could be learned, this was the first time that organized workers in the industry have sought contractual assurance of an annual minimum wage. It is known, however, that at least one other group has had this in mind as one of its ultimate objectives.

The company previously has denied charges the F. B. A. was a company union.

President Roosevelt and Gov. Frank Murphy, of Michigan, have advocated the establishment of such a plan. The president, in an address in Detroit while campaigning for re-election in 1936, urged the motorcar industry to set up an annual "minimum living wage" for its workers.

William S. McDowell, Sr., brotherhood attorney, said that in return for the proposed wage guarantee F. B. A. members would sign an agreement that each would

THANK YOU! THE KINSLOE HOUSE Woman's Club Association Corsicana, Texas

Messrs. Wortham and Martin, Corsicana, Texas.
Dear Friends:

More than a month ago I was instructed by the Woman's Club association to write you, expressing our very sincere thanks for the manner in which you cooperated with us in our recent financial drive. Your cash donation was a generous one and we appreciated that, but even more valuable was the publicity you gave us in our home paper.

The Daily Sun is a very vital but often a very casual accepted part of our community life. I'm sure that we take its splendid service too much for granted, and do not often enough express our appreciation. Please neglect in this instance, which is solely my own, and be assured that we are truly grateful.

We hope and believe that our new Club Home will soon be contributing its share of pleasure and benefit to the community and that you will share our pride and satisfaction in its possession.

Thank You again.

Very sincerely,

Drenching Rains Help Crops But Streams Flooded

SAN ANGELO, April 25.—(P)—Drenching rains in half a dozen West Texas counties yesterday brightened crop prospects and sent streams on sharp rises.

The downpour touched Tom Green, Runnels, Coke, Concho, Sterling, and Coleman counties, and was regarded as assuring a good grain crop and a good planting season.

Waters rose in the north, middle and main Conchos and the Colorado rivers. Small streams in all sections of the six counties were out of banks, and held up traffic in several places.

The North Concho was out of its banks for a short time yesterday morning, and water was waist deep in sections of Lake View, immediately north of San Angelo.

Bridges were washed out on Lipan Creek southeast of San Angelo, Ballinger, Winters, Coleman, Edo, Paint Rock and Bronte reported good rains. Ranchers southeast of San Angelo reported

REALITY OF ETHER, UNKNOWN MEDIUM IN WHICH LIGHT TRAVELS REPORTED VARIFIED TO SCIENCE

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE, Associated Press Science Editor.
WASHINGTON, April 25.—(P)—The reality of "ether"—invisible, unknown medium in which light travels through space—was reported verified today for the first time by a team of scientists to the National Academy of Sciences.

The new test, concerning one of the greatest mysteries of science, involved timing events in space, and showed that a moving clock keeps slower time than one standing still. It gave an inkling of the nature of "ether" as probably a sea of energy, stationary and filling all known space.

In the light of recent new knowledge about energy, this discovery indicates that man may be a peculiar packet of the universal energy sea, free to move around in it, but not wholly disconnected from it.

The experiment was reported by Dr. Herbert E. Ives of the Bell Telephone Laboratories, New York. He is one of the foremost scientists in optics.

He used a canal ray tube, shaped somewhat like a tube electric light. Lengthwise through it luminous atoms of hydrogen traveled at about 1,800 miles a second, all in the same direction. This was about one per cent the velocity of light.

Dr. Ives, looking at the tube end-on, as through a spy glass, could see the light of the particles traveling toward him, with a mirror, set in the opposite end of the tube, he could see the light of the same particles from behind. He saw them, that is, both coming and going, at the same instant.

He photographed them going both ways at once, on the same plate, with a spectrograph. The picture gave the "lines" of the light rays and showed their rate of vibration. Normally this would be photographed by a camera.

Reliable authorities report the forgeries are excellently done and are difficult to determine. Federal authorities have been notified of the appearance of the bogus money here.

SAN ANTONIO BOY DIED AFTER BRUTAL BEATING RECEIVED

MAN CHARGED WITH MURDER AFTER BATTERED BODY FOUND ON SUNDAY

SAN ANTONIO, April 25.—(P)—William Sullivan, 4, died in a hospital here today, victim of a brutal beating for which Cicero Tuttle, 24, was charged with murder in justice court of Raymond Gerhardt.

The child's battered body was found yesterday in underbrush beside Menger Creek on the eastern outskirts of the city after an all-night search. His skull was fractured.

Tuttle, held in the state school for feeble-minded at Austin from March 15, 1930, until May 31, 1934, was arrested Saturday midnight while searching for boys to continue. Several children had told their parents they had seen the child with a man.

Detectives A. G. Lankford and L. A. Williams arrested Tuttle and took him to the neighborhood in an effort to have the children identify him. The officers fled with the suspect when neighbors in an excited hurry mood gathered. Lankford and Williamson said the suspect's arms were scratched and torn.

A girl helping hunt the child found a bloody bottle and handkerchief. The boy was found nearby, unconscious.

Records at Austin revealed Tuttle was admitted to the state school on recommendation of the Taylor county court and was discharged to his father in San Antonio.

NATIONAL GUARD IMPORTANT ASSET LOCAL COMMUNITY

ORGANIZATION MAKES PRO- VISION FOR VOLUNTARY CIVILIAN TRAINING

By PAUL DRESSER
First Lieutenant, Battery "D,"
The National Guard is established for both state and federal purposes. Ordinarily it is purely a local force, completely under the control and governed by the laws of the state to which it belongs. In return for certain obligations it is paid, supplied with equipment, arms, and accessories, and furnished instruction from the regular army by the federal government.

The legal charter of our present system of land defense is the national defense act of June 3, 1916, and amendments of 1920.
The world war made congress realize the necessity of greater protection for this country and conforming with the ideals and traditions of the American people it provided for a very small professional army and placed the main reliance for the defense of the nation upon a citizen army.
They realized that heavy improv-sation of a fighting force is wholly impossible—thus the National Guard.

Confidence in Security.
The present act is so drawn as to give the nation a just confidence in its own security without, however, constituing a menace to the peace of the world. The professional army is smaller force than the police and fire fighting forces of our largest cities; additional organizations are necessary on which to build a fighting force to cope with any trouble that might arise. This has been accomplished by our militia system—a system that is effective yet costs the government far less than it would to maintain a large standing army. It is estimated that it costs only one twelfth the amount to train the militia as it does the regular army.

The National Guard makes provision for voluntary civilian training so as to suit the convenience of citizens from every walk of life. Generally a higher type personnel is attracted to this organization that is not drawn into the regular army. Besides giving local citizens military training, all organizations teach and practice good citizenship which is of unestimable value to the local community, the state and the nation, because it is realized that the teaching of good citizenship is as of great a contribution to the community as is military training. Men are taught to respect and obey the laws, their superiors, to respect property rights of others; to "pull" for the local community and to make it better by being better themselves; and to exercise their right at the polls—in general to take an active part in all community enterprises.

Subject to Call.
The organized forces of the militia is available to the call of the governor, sheriff, department, and local city governments for thorities in execution of the law,

COTTON FARMERS OF TEXAS SOLD COTTON FOR MORE IN 1937

WASHINGTON, April 25.—(AP)— Texas cotton farmers received more for their 1937 than their 1936 lint even though a price slump slashed the national cotton income by $41,000,000.
Texas, Oklahoma, Tennessee and Arizona were the only states, the Bureau of Agricultural Economics said, which produced big enough crops to offset the price decline.

The Bureau said Texas farmers received $198,199,000 for sale of 4,584,000 bales of 1937 cotton at an average of 8.8 cents a pound when the total was $199,150,000.
3,053,000 bales in 1936 at 11.7 cents.
It said the 1937 Texas cotton income was the state's largest since 1930 with exception of 1934
when the total was $199,150,000.
The 1930 total was $203,906,000.
The bureau reported the national cotton income dropped from $804,879,000 in 1936 to $863,970-000 in 1937.

LITTLE GIRL DIED IN LOCAL HOSPITAL; BE BURIED DAWSON

Jimmie Maurine Clark, aged 2 years, eight months and 23 days, daughter of Muri Clark, died in the P. and S. Hospital Sunday morning at 6 o'clock after a several days' illness with pneumonia.

The little child resided with its grandmother, Mrs. F. B. Matthews at Dawson. Her mother is dead.

Funeral services are scheduled
Monday at Dawson.

The aid of newspapers and radios was enlisted Saturday by relatives in a futile effort to locate the father whose whereabouts are unknown.

The body was taken to Dawson Sunday morning by a Dawson funeral director.

CLEVELAND TAKES OVER AMERICAN LEAD AS FELLER DOWNS TIGERS

By GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Staff Writer

National league pitchers evidently are beginning to take a liking to that new ball with its slightly raised seams. In four games yesterday they turned in a series of remarkable performances. Hal Schumacher of the Giants showing the way with a one-hit, 10 to 0 victory over Brooklyn's Dodgers.

There's no doubt the National league ball-throwing attitude is a little more aggressive and enables a pitcher to get maybe a little more stuff on his deliveries, though tests have proved it travels just as far when swatted. There's no difficulty in distinguishing the two balls when one is held in either hand.

The only hit off Schumacher was by the first man to face him at Ebbets field. It was a dinky roller past first base by Roy Rosen, Brooklyn rookie. Thereafter only three reached first on the Giants right-handed arm, all walks. Meantime, Van Mungo of the Dodgers was doing all right, himself. He gave 10 hits, but it took Max Ott's home run in the second inning to beat him.

Macfadyen Comes Through
Danny Macfadyen of the Boston Bees produced a three-hit gem in blanking the Phillies, 2 to 0. Just before game time he had been advised of the death of his foster father, but insisted upon pitching. Dizzy Dean gave a little additional proof that he isn't going to do the Chicago Cubs and material harm as he has been doing to the St. Louis Cardinals, 5 to 0, on four hits. The great one had only a single strikeout, but he looked a lot like his old self.

Chicago fans to the number of 24,520 turned out to see their new $250.00 beauty, and Dizzy didn't disappoint them. His curve, which is wider than in other years, had the Cards swinging frantically. To top it off, he singled for one of the Cubs' eight blows off Max Macon, making his first big league start.

Dizzy Has Following
The Cub players rushed to congratulate Dizzy after the final out, and thousands of fans waited outside the gate to glimpse the new baseball star. Dizzy's modesty: "Only 20 more wins to go." Jim Tobin kept the undefeated Pirates tearing along at the head of the procession as he bested Peaches Davis of the Braves, 5 to 1, in a brilliant, six allowed five hits, Davis six. The Pirates were due for some tougher competition as they opened a series with the Cubs today.

Cleveland climbed into the American league lead with its fifth straight triumph and third in a row over Detroit, 9 to 4. Bob Feller, who hurled a one-hit shutout in his first start of the season, came back to hold the Tigers for three innings and no runs for the first eight innings. They popped him five times in the ninth to break his scoreless string.

NOYES

single toast to the president of the United States. Farewell Paul Bellamy praised Noyes' long president, and told him, "This is not farewell. It is not even a revival. We are to have your counsel on many more, but now is as good a time as any ever come to tell you that the members of the Associated Press can never repay you for what you have given us in the years of your leadership."

"There is a gift we can give you today," he said, "which will gladden your heart more than any other. It is the gift of this membership well enough to say that we will give it."

"We can and we do rededicate ourselves to the cause of truth in this time of crisis. We have never in dire need of defenders than today. The march of events intensifies class differences. The centrifugal forces which have split many a country in the past are at work among us."

Pressure Groups
"One pressure group after another takes the lead on the stage of endeavor by its leaders. Who, then, shall stand for America first and his own 'ism' second? Only that one, I suggest, who knows it and who really is, know all its parts and their relations to each other, know what the entire adventure is about."

And how do we develop citizens of this order? Only by telling fully what is going on. Public opinion rules a democracy and news is the raw material of public opinion. We shall tell the truth, he added, "and more resolutely than ever. We shall do it because we love and honor you and the other founders of this great free news service. We shall do it because our beloved country requires us to keep the faith."

Noyes announced his intention to retire in January, and action by the board of directors, and action by the membership on proposals made to the board that member papers be permitted to arrange with advertising for sponsored news broadcasts.

The 38th annual meeting of the Associated Press preceded the luncheon. The main business was to elect officers of the directors, and action by the membership on proposals made to the board that member papers be permitted to arrange with advertising for sponsored news broadcasts.

Directors whose terms are expiring, all of whom have been re-nominated were Noyes, Frank E. Murphy, of the Minneapolis Tribune; E. Patterson, of the Baltimore Sun, and Josh L. Horne of the Rocky Mountain, N. C., telegram.

Horne is the director representative of the membership, and will serve for at least two years, and the other nominees for that post is Clark F. Waite of the San Pedro, Calif., News Pilot.

Others nominated for directorships are John Stewart Bryan of the Richmond News Leader; E. K.

MANAGER GRIMM AND CATCHER HARTNETT ARE SATISFIED BY DIZZY DEAN'S SHUTOUT STUNT

By CHARLES DUNKLEY.

CHICAGO, April 25.—(AP)—The $185,000 right arm of the great and only Jerome Herman Dean is usually perfect. Nothing whatever is wrong with it.

That was the opinion of Charles Grimm, manager of the Chicago Cubs, and Charles Leo Hartnett, the Cub's great catcher, as they watched Dizzy Dean with the greatest of ease mow down his former companions 5 to 0 on a yield of only four hits. Dean pitched against the Cardinals with loose, free motion, giving no indication there was anything wrong with his arm that was supposed to be injured last season and which has been employed in only 17 innings of spring games.

Hartnett, his tomato-red face split from ear to ear with a grin, beamed after the Cubs reached the dressing room.

"There is nothing the matter with that guy," Hartnett said. "He pitched just like old Dizzy. He pitched the ball just where I wanted it, and he will get better right along. He is not going to improve with more work. When the warm weather hits us Mr. Dean will really do his stuff."

He didn't cut loose only three or four times. He had to pitch. Johnny Mize when he made him pop out in the sixth with two on.

Grimm said that Dean's performance of turning in two victories in five days had convinced him.

He looked like a million dollars. He wasn't pitching, free and easy. He wasn't pitching, head off any time, but when he had to bear down he did it.

Conquering the Cardinals was of tremendous importance to Dean. That was one I just wanted to get over," Dean said after the game.

"And a shut-out, too," he smiled.

"My arm feels just swell. I was throwing my fast ball all the time, first j-st a little, then pretty hard. I was loosened up from the start."

"I look like you are going to win 3-0 game, alright," someone piped up. Old Dizzy shook his head and grinned.

"I don't know," he modestly replied. "I won't say that yet, but I am going to do my damndest."

up and save ourselves and pay our honest debts. We can pay the public debt of these United States if we are honest and economical. We will have to stop our spendthrift course."

The nation's hope, he said, "lies in congress, backed by an efficient executive, to control the action and assume leadership."

"Congress must decide if we are to take the hard road, or if we shall dash gaily and blindly into the debt of the future, inflating by meeting our current expenditures for the ninth successive year with IOUs."

All responsibility, Landon said, must not be placed upon congress, and the citizenry must not be "indifferent."

President Roosevelt "is gambling," he said, "that he can get the national income by a policy of government spending."

"But this program is the opposite of the policy of the treasury only five months ago. With several ways to check depression, the President has chosen the one that the record of his administration shows will not work."

TOPEKA, Kas., April 25.—(AP)—

Alf M. Landon called upon "an articulate citizenry" today to make it clear to congress that "this huge appropriation" proposed in President Roosevelt's new recovery program must be met by adequate tax provisions.

The 1938 recovery bill, presidential nominee, in an address prepared for delivery to the Optimist club, said the President's proposal has ended the "period of uncertainty" as to the government's fiscal policy.

"We are again upon an inflationary course," he said.

The speech was read by state Supreme court justice Eugene T. McFadyen, after Landon was called to Kansas City by the illness of his father, John M. Landon.

"If every time there is a recession in business the only way out is to increase government spending, it is a further huge expenditure program to be applied on top of expenditures already too great. Then we shall go bankrupt."

"The government spends money, it must collect revenues to match the expenditures, x x x "It is not yet too late to pull work."

$25,000 SCHOLARSHIP FUND ESTABLISHED IN MEMORY W. J. M'KIE

Miss Blanche McKie announced today the establishment of a $25,000 scholarship in the law school of the University of Texas, to be made operative at the opening of the 1938-39 long term. The gift is in memory of her father, the late W. J. McKie, one of the early leaders in legal and oil circles in Navarro county, and is known as the "W. J. McKie Gift Scholarship Fund in Law."

The purpose of the scholarship is to be invested by the executive committee of the Ex-Students Association together with the investment officer of the university, and the responsibility for carrying out the terms of the annual awards is to be in the hands of the executive council of the association.

Three scholarships of $250 each will be given to students each year. Qualifications for applicants require that they shall be bona-fide students in the law school of the university, and specifically that they shall be graduates of high schools who have done their pre-law work at the university, thus demonstrating their ability to do successful work of university grade.

The scholarship is to be awarded to students who have demonstrated a high degree of scholarship, and who have a record of accomplishment in the profession.

Students will be judged upon the four qualifications which are listed in the order of their importance: 1. Character; 2. Financial need; 3. Scholarly record; and 4. Promise of accomplishment in the profession.

In establishing the scholarship Miss McKie is commemorating her father's interest in the University of Texas and in the law school. Although Mr. McKie did not attend the university, having completed his education before the establishment of the school, he had a keen interest in its welfare throughout his life.

THE TROUBLE.
The Good Lord to an angel said:
"World comes to me,
The world is full of dismal dread
Go down and see!"
Back came the angel, swift as light,
This word to bring:
"Lord, things upon the earth are right.
'Tis now the spring!
"The grass is green; the skies are blue
And every field,
Orchard and hillside will renew
Their annual yield.
"Thy countless blessings, gracious
Lord,
Abundant fall;
Yet men with cannon-fire and sword Destroy them all."

ON THE OPEN ROAD

As the tourist season starts, a northern motorist writes from Texas giving some cheerful information. He drove nearly 3,000 miles, he says, without striking a detour—and he wasn't trying to avoid them, either. In the same distance he had no tire punctures or mechanical difficulties of any kind. And in one day he drove more than 500 miles without meeting a stoplight.

Any traveler who thinks back to 10 years ago can appreciate what this report means. The nation's roads have improved immensely, and so have the automobiles. A person can drive twice as far in a day, and do it with less fatigue than he could a decade ago. He does it also at much less cost per mile. There are more stoplights, to be sure, in the more thickly settled parts of the country, and tourists are often delayed by city lights and traffic; but a few more years and those difficulties will be solved.

"We have been struck throughout the tour," he says, "by the millions already spent and others now being spent to enable American motorists to become better acquainted with their almost incredibly vast, varied and entrancing country. Scenes of peace, comfort and prosperity we've been witnessing along this boundless terrain contrast so vividly with headlines telling of wars, misery and turmoil elsewhere that one is uncertain whether he should attempt to write a travelogue or preach a sermon."

The greatest improvement of the future will doubtless be trunk highways, connecting with but bypassing the cities, having no crossings and therefore no stoplights, and having separate lanes of traffic.

"AMERICANISM"

Perhaps the beginning of wisdom is, as Stuart Chase has been arguing, to find out what words mean—or what we mean by them.

"What is Americanism?" Communist Ted Robinson has been asking. Studying the replies, he comes to this conclusion:

"It means just what any person using the term wants it to mean. To the chauvinist, Americanism means the repudiation of anything 'foreign'. To the Tory, it means a refusal to consider any political or economic theory which was not thought nationally orthodox in the McKinley administration. To a great many people it means that the British are invariably wrong—in speech, spelling, government, clothes, cooking and education.

"What does it mean to me? Why, a word to apply to all the things I think are just and holy. I was born and brought up American, so what else can it mean?"

This conception of patriotism seems to be a sort of national religion. It is right in line with the tendency observable almost everywhere in recent years—even China is catching it now. Italian Fascism, German Nazism, Russian Communism, French Republicanism, British Imperialism—these are secular religions.

A little thought about such things should make us no less patriotic, but more tolerant of others' patriotism.

Henry Ford says in 50 years he has never had an argument with his wife. And now the question is, was it she or Henry who never argued?

PALS! JUST PALS!RISEING CHINA

The Japanese army lately has seemed to be bogging down in China. The Chinese success at Taler-chang stopped the invaders' offensive and saved the Chinese railway in a region where lately the Japanese seemed to be sweeping everything before them. Chinese morale seems higher than it has been at any previous time in modern history. More ample supplies are coming in. Trained troops are being produced, in growing quantity, with almost factory precision. Not only is Chinese strategy clever, but Chinese soldiers have gained confidence and are showing initiative and resourcefulness that were never expected of them.

Japan still has superiority in military power, but is in danger because she has to stretch her lines thin on so big a front, and her effectiveness is waning as China's improves. Japanese troops in some sectors are lacking ammunition and equipment. There is said to be growing dissatisfaction at home over the costliness and continued difficulties of a war which most of the nation did not want.

The war may turn out to be a good thing for China, despite the vast loss and misery inflicted by the invaders. It may result in a new, strong and modern China. It may even benefit Japan, in the long run, by discrediting the reckless militarists and driving the nation to peaceful co-operation with others.

WORK VS. ROMANCE

An American ship with the appalling name "Ulysses" anchored in New York harbor the other day after a voyage of more than 15 months in Australian waters, off Southwest Africa and in the Weddell Sea. The vessel attracted a great deal of attention along the waterfront because it is one of the few remaining American whalers. Also a record has been established during the voyage—the capture of 96-foot whale weighing 192 tons. The average catch is 65 to 75 feet long and weighs 130 to 150 tons.

The crowd along the shore watching that ship probably felt a few spring-pangs of envy for the men who sailed in distant seas in the adventurous quest of whales. One of the men aboard the ship, the U. S. Coast Guard inspector who went along to see that the international whaling treaty of 1936 was fully observed, took pains to disabuse the public of such romantic notions.

Speaking from long experience, he said, whaling holds neither romance nor adventure. A long whal-

VICTORIOUS MILEAGE

Some one had the temerity the other day to introduce in the House a bill to restrict congressional mileage appropriations to the actual cost of transporting members to and from sessions. Immediately defenders of the mileage payments rose. They argued that some congressmen did a lot of traveling for public business and paid their own way. One, who lives in New Jersey, was said to spend $1,700 a session traveling between Washington and his home district.

When the bill finally came to vote, the verdict was a reverberating "no," so the subsidies, special privileges, etc., are saved once more.

Congressional mileage isn't great when checked against other national spending. Yet it is greater than need be, and hanging onto it against more generous counsel is bad psychology, tending to arouse the anger of constituents. It is also an example of the reluctance of Congress to economize in any specific place. The theory of economy has wholehearted support. Its practice fails.

Silken bullets: "Every pair of silk hose women buy," says an American boycott leader, "gives Japan enough money to buy four rounds of ammunition."

Some days we don't altogether blame the world for not doing what Dorothy Thompson and Hugh Johnson tell it to do.

Germany, including Austria, is now 99.75 per cent Fuehrer—and shame to any scoffer who pronounces it "furor."

So long, Europe—take care of yourself! We've got a little job of our own over here.

People need gardens. They raise less hell when they're raising vegetables and flowers.

The way to save the capitalist system is to get people back to work.

ing voyage becomes a monotonous grind. The ship smells terribly.

There is nothing but work. On the Antarctic they labored mostly in semi-darkness and often in severe storms. One man was killed by the swinging fluke of a captured whale that crushed him against the deckhouse.

So much for adventure and romance. It is all in the point of view. There is perhaps no job so dull that some worker can't enliven it with his own imagination and spirit, and none so thrilling that a weary worker can't complain of its monotony.

Screening windows and doors was the subject of discussion at the April 22 meeting. All windows and doors should be screened with fly proof screen to guard health. The window screens should be laced on hinges so as to be easy to remove in cleaning. All doors and window frames should be painted to add to the life of material, as well as appearance.

Miss Rettinger demonstrated some kitchen curtains in very attractive patterns and colors. The hostess, Mrs. D. D. Anderson served refreshments to seven members and six visitors.

TRINITY MOTORCADE GOES TO TEHUACANA FOR FOUNDERS DAY

Thirty or more carloads of Trinity University students and faculty members and Waxahachie citizens, passed through Corsicana at 9:30 Friday morning en route to Westminster College, Tehuacana, where they attended the founders' day program. Trinity University was originally founded at Tehuacana, but the buildings were sold to Westminster College and Trinity was moved to Waxahachie.

The caravan was met at the highway 75 cut-off North by city and state highway patrolmen and escorted through the business district, where, guided to the route south of the city.

A special program was given all-day at Tehuacana, with a barbecue dinner at 12:30. Several Corsicana citizens joined the caravan here and attended the celebration.

MOSES AUSTIN'S BODY WILL REMAIN IN MISSOURI CITY

AUSTIN, April 22.—(P)—Whether Texas will wage a legal battle to claim the remains of Moses Austin, now buried at Potosi, Mo., whose officials yesterday thwarted an attempt to exhumate the remains, hung in the balance today.

L. W. Kemp of Houston, chairman of the advisory board of Texas Historical and Landmark Commission to obtain the Austin remains for reburial in Austin by the side of his son, Stephen F. Austin, was adopted as the decision rested with the Texas board of control, and descendants of the Texas colonizer.

POTOSI, Mo., April 22.—(P)—Determined the body of this mining center's founder, Moses Austin, shall remain in a shrine here, city officials promised today a fight in the courts to prevent its removal to Austin, Tex., where his remains, hung in the balance today.

The cooperatives, in Kaufman, Grayson, Fannin, McLennan and Navarro counties, will obtain power at a wholesale rate of 1.3 cents per kilowatt hour, REA officials said. They estimated the consumer rate at about 5¢ per month per 100 kilowatt hours.

BIDS ORDERED FOR SURFACING HIGHWAY 22 TO PALESTINETEMPORARY ALL-WEATHER ROAD WILL BE PROVIDED BY THIS WORK

AUSTIN, April 22.—(P)—Numerous orders providing immediate and future improvements of roads came from the highway commission today. By counties, they included: Andrews, Martin and Howard—Designated a state highway between Andrews and Big Spring with the understanding no funds are available for construction. Cameron—Took over or state maintenance 8.53 miles of highway 107 between Combes and the Hidalgo county line.

Galveston—Ordered plans prepared and bids requested for total estimated cost of $145,100, for covering the widening of grading and drainage structures from the city limits of Galveston to the east approach of the new causeway, grading and drainage structures and surfacing from the west approach to the new causeway to the East end of the G. C. and S. F. overpass project, including the highway department, grading and drainage structures from the north end of the overpass to the intersection of highways 6 and 38.

Kenedy—Agreed with the King Ranch management to give the right of way for fencing for highway 98 through ranch at a total expense of $7,182.50. The agreement also gave the department and contractor the right of entry to the ranch and removal, free of charge, of subgrade treatment material.

Nueces—Authorized states engineer to enter an agreement with Corpus Christi and Nueces county for preparing a master highway plan, similar to those made for Dallas, Fort Worth and San Antonio, under the supervision of the highway department, which will bear one-third of the cost.

Hidalgo—Ordered plans prepared and bids requested for covering widening of grading, drainage structures and surfacing on highway from McAllen to a point near the west city limits of Donna, 10 miles, at an estimated cost of $150,000.

Hutchinson—Ordered bids for grading, bridges and surfacing on Highway 117 from Stinnett north six miles at estimated cost of $84,000.

Navarro—Ordered bids for temporary surfacing of highway 22 east and west of Chambers creek to provide all-weather road between Corsicana and Palestine.

WASHINGTON, April 22.—(P)—The bureau of agricultural economics estimated today that, despite production of the largest cotton crop on record, the growers' income during the 1937 calendar year totaled only $863,970,000, or $411,000 less than in the previous year.

Of the 1937 income, cotton fiber brought growers $734,104,000 and cotton seed $129,776,000, the bureau estimated.

Cotton sold in 1937 brought an average price of 8.7 cents a pound, the bureau said, compared with 12.2 in 1935.

The bureau pointed out that cotton seed has been a source of income in recent years. In the past five years it produced an average of 13.5 per cent of the total income from the cotton crop, as compared with 10.3 in the 1910-14 period.

The bureau also estimated that 16,818,000 bales of cotton were sold or placed under government loans by growers last year. The 1937 crop has been placed at 18,476,000 bales.

Powell Forty-two Club Met At Home The Virgil Haynies

This week's meeting of the Powell Forty-two Club was at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Haynie, with Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Murphy acting as hosts. There were eleven tables of players, although quite a few of the regular members were absent. Guest players were Miss Euphonia Richer, Mrs. Roy Hopkins, Mrs. Alma Mitchell, and Mr. and Mrs. Millen Haynie of Corsicana; Miss Marie Quinn of Long Prairie, and Miss Frankie Mae Pope and Shorty Johnson.

Mrs. Lloyd Melton's score of 3051 was high for the women, while the men trailed again this week with Frank Cartledge's score of 2923.

New times for meeting and for breaking up were inaugurated this week. Playing time will be shortened to from 8 p. m. until 10, due to the pressure of spring work.

Texas Power-Light Furnish Electricity For Navarro County

WASHINGTON, April 22.—(P)—An agreement whereby the Texas Power and Light company would furnish power to five rural electrification cooperatives in Central and North Texas was announced by the REA.

The cooperatives, in Kaufman, Grayson, Fannin, McLennan and Navarro counties, will obtain power at a wholesale rate of 1.3 cents per kilowatt hour, REA officials said. They estimated the consumer rate at about 5¢ per month per 100 kilowatt hours.

REVIEW OF COTTON IN STATE OF TEXAS

RECENT COLD WEATHER KILLED COTTON AND WILL MAKE CROP LATE

COLLEGE STATION, April 23.—(Sp.)—The cold weather and strong winds which occurred two weeks ago killed practically all cotton that was up as far south as San Patricio county. This will cause the crop in the middle and upper sections of the state to be late. It is expected that the cotton in Texas will be later than usual and thereby avoid some of the early flea hoppers. Until cotton becomes large enough to afford some shelter, the flea hoppers will very likely find other spring host plants or suitable weeds that are more acceptable. On the other hand, the dry weather of the coastal areas has retarded emergence of hatching flea hoppers, according to workers in the bureau of entomology and plant quarantine and may counteract in some measure the protection afforded by the weeds. These insects are already being carried on the winds in larger numbers than usual at this time of year in both South and Central Texas. The heavy rains which fell during the latter part of March was, with two exceptions, the highest since 1930. During the first two weeks in April it was higher than in 1935. A flea hopper epidemic indicating that early cotton would have been subject to damage had it not been destroyed. Present indications are that flea hopper damage to cotton will be reduced because of the delay in the cotton.

In North Texas, the damage from this pest is not expected to be as severe as in 1937. This expectation is based on records which show the flea hoppers to have been less than half as numerous in fall of 1937 as in the fall of 1936. In the latter case, a good index of the numbers that will be present the following spring.

Boil weevils were not as abundant as last fall and have been limited areas. The generally high cotton yields also indicate that weevils were scarce in most localities. The usual extensive survival in the Lower Rio Grande Valley did not occur this spring because of the fall clean-up of cotton fields in conformity with the regulations for control and eradication of the pink bollworm. Severe early weevil damage therefore is not anticipated in spite of the fact that the winter has been mild and that already some weevils have been found on cotton in the field. The weevil damage in Central Texas is 7 per cent about normal for this month.

Thrips are numerous in most cotton fields of the Lower Valley where dry weather has retarded development of the plants has resulted in some fields.

Grasshoppers continue to be a pest in the northern part of Texas. The snow probably aided in protecting those that had already hatched. The wise cotton grower will see his county agent and state entomologist in an early fight against grasshoppers.

LOCAL OFFICERS OF GUARD WILL ATTEND DALLAS INSPECTION

Major John Garner and First Lieutenant Louis C. Mayberry will attend the annual federal inspection of the regimental and battalion staffs of the 132nd Field Artillery which will be held in Dallas, Sunday, April 24th. Major Garner is commanding the 1st Battalion of the 2nd Battalion of the regiment. Major John J. Atkinson, regular army officer and instructor of the 131st Field Artillery, has been designated by the War Department as the inspecting officer.

Colonel Kenneth K. Bullock, commanding officer of the regiment, will entertain the inspecting officer and all officers attending the inspection at the hotel. Colonel Bullock who has just been promoted and assumed command of the regiment, is well known in Corsicana, having been in the city here. He was connected with the Magnolia Petroleum company here and is now with the same organization in Fort Worth. Col. Bullock was also an officer in the local National Guard unit, Battery D.

HOUSE COMMITTEES WILL CHECK NATION FOR ITS DEFENSES

THOROUGH CHECK WILL BE MADE IN ORDER STRENGTHEN AGAINST WEAK SPOTS

WASHINGTON, April 22.—(AP)—Members of the house naval and military committees will make a thorough checkup this summer on the nation's defenses, from Maine to Hawaii and from the Panama Canal to Alaska.

The purpose of the checkup will be to obtain information to be used as the basis for future legislation to strengthen weak spots.

Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) of the naval committee and chairman May (D-Ky.) of the military group said today the survey would include every major navy yard, air base and important defense guns.

The tour may start in June and cover as much as 20,000 miles. Vinson said a special trip to Alaska with reference to military needs for locating air, destroyer, submarine and mine bases there.

They are going to look over the situation there, particularly the feasibility of establishing a graving dock. They also will look over the availability of ship supply depots at Oakland, Calif.

May said the Gulf coast also would be inspected, and that military committees would study coast defenses primarily to determine the need for new coast artillery and anti-aircraft guns.

To See For Selves.

"We are going to see for ourselves what the defenses are in," he said. "We apparently have a bunch of obsolete stationary guns that are designed only to shoot at ships."

Most of this nation's coast line is wide open to aerial bombardment.

"The best way to stop these aggressive nations is to show them we have the strength to back up our position."

May said it was noticeable that as soon as the United States served notice on Japan that it intended to build more battleships, the Japanese government withdrew its fleet from our Alaskan waters.

His proposal to hasten senate action on the expansion bill by a limitation of debate came today from its sponsors.

The chief executive disclosed he had received numerous communications urging him to commute sentences of John W. Vaughn of San Antonio and Johnnie B. Eas, Brantley county negro, the boys.

Beauty Diary

of Edna Kent Forbes

EVENING MAKEUP.

Mrs. Forbes tells you today what to do in making up your skin for an evening when you wish to be frivolous.

The pores of the skin should be kept free most of the time, or there will be trouble later on; but for the occasional times when one wishes to look extra well, a great deal of latitude may be taken, and without any serious results. Vanishing cream is never the best thing to use on the skin, but for an evening make-up it makes a good foundation.

ingrown nails. Mrs. V.—Since oils or fats make you stout, you might avoid some of these in whichever way they seem best to you; for instance, cream in coffee fattens, so will much butter over vegetables and bread. You might even leave all bread and biscuits out of your diet. Pastry, of course, should be eliminated. If you know which foods really fatten you, it will be easy to control your weight.

If you have any beauty problems you cannot solve, write for Edna Kent Forbes three NEW beauty booklets: (1) "Fifteen Minutes a Day for Beauty," (2) "The Finer Points of Beauty," (3) "Eating and Bathing for Beauty." Send ten cents (in stamps) for EACH booklet, to pay for printing and handling and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope (label). Address Edna Kent Forbes, 6-20 this paper.

PLANS COMPLETED FOR CONSTRUCTION CHURCH BUILDING

Plans were furthered and organization completed Wednesday night by the building committee of the Eleventh Avenue Methodist church. The officers chosen were L. K. Carraway, chairman, and S. J. Miles, treasurer. E. L. Bridger will have charge of construction. The plan adopted by the committee is a "Pay As You Go" building program. A portion of the material will be purchased and placed on the grounds for construction only when there is money to buy the material.

Prospects look good, and it is believed that construction will start within a few days. The committee is composed of L. K. Carraway, J. M. Smith, S. J. Miles, Sr., J. I. Elliott and E. L. Bridger.

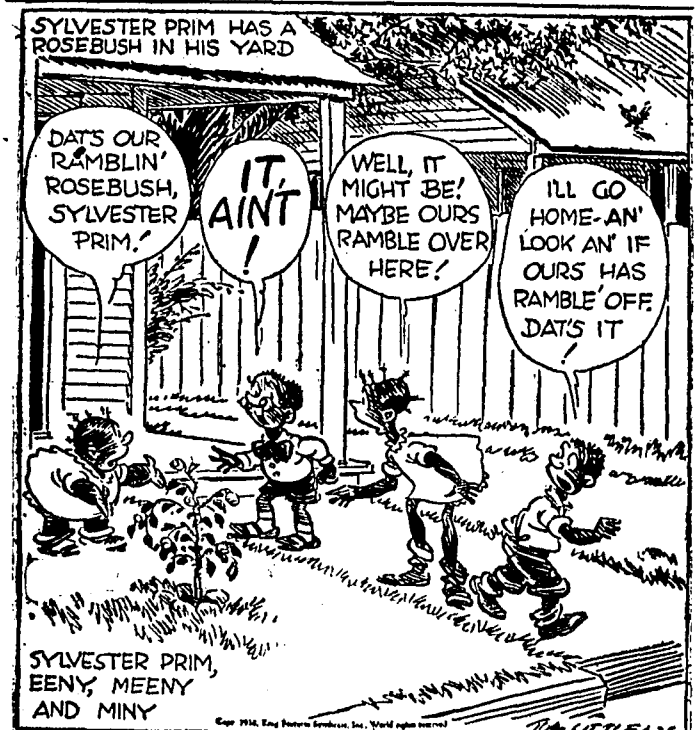

Card of Thanks. We wish to take this method to thank our friends for the many kindnesses shown Arnold Wallace of Retreat, who suffered the breaking of an arm last Saturday. He was in the Navarro Clinic until Thursday and is doing fine at home now.

TWENTY-TWO BODIES BROUGHT FROM MINE GRUNDY, VIRGINIA

NINETEEN OTHERS MISSING AFTER EXPLOSION AND ALL BELIEVED DEAD

GRUNDY, Va., April 23.—(AP)—The bodies of 22 men had been brought from the explosion-wrecked Red Jacket mine today and a final death toll of 41 miners was indicated. Nineteen were missing and believed dead.

Progress of the rescue squads slowed down materially when they entered the "A" shaft where the last two bodies were found, burned almost beyond recognition. Debris from falling slate and coal an intense heat made the labor of the rescue workers difficult.

With 400 rescue workers present from three states, 30-minute shifts were being used because of the heat in the mine.

Payrolls of the mine indicated there were 21 workers in "A" shaft leaving the mine today. Of the 22 bodies recovered so far, three were found at the mine entrance where the explosion struck, and 17 were found in the "B" section, now completely explored.

All but four of the bodies had been identified.

Attingo Keagle, vice president of the Red Jacket Company, said the mine had been cleared in all shafts and rescue squads fought to clear their way through them, but scant hope was held for any of those in the mine.

All of the miners were white men.

Superintendent E. R. Kirby was one of the first to enter the damaged shafts and took charge of the rescue work. The crews found a steel fan constructed to supply 32,000 cubic feet of air per minute twisted from its base.

The explosion, believed caused by dust, wrecked the Red Jacket mine, just after four mine cars carrying men for the night shift had entered the shaft. The tremendous concussion was felt for miles around.

Debris hampered workers. Fallen slate and rock slowed the efforts of the rescue workers who did not reach the scene until after dark. Groping carefully along the haulage, the bodies of the four men were found in the motor barn not far inside the mouth.

News of the disaster spread quickly in the little colony huddled in a narrow valley over which Cumberland peaks tower. Two hours later state police estimated 100,000 persons were in the scene.

Bodies of the men were removed from the mine and taken to Richlands, Va., where they filled the town's two funeral homes. Several were so badly burned that identification was nearly impossible and three remained unidentified.

Eighteen of the dead were: Ernest Boyd, Hammond Varney, Orville Street, Coy Reed, J. L. Blewins, Elmer Patrick, Ed. J. Gilley, Claude Dellar, J. W. Combs, Glenn Ratcliff, Arvil Norris, F. L. Buckler, Marcus Thacker, O. C. Hitchcock, Charlie Geen, W. H. Orant, Walker Sutherland, Anell Owens.

GRUNDY, Va., April 23.—(AP)—"It looked like the whole mountain top was coming off."

Thus did Sergeant Paul F. Spengler of the Virginia state police describe the explosion that wrecked the Red Jacket Coal Company mine late yesterday. He and J. E. Buchanan saw the blast from a filling station on a nearby highway.

"I've never seen anything like it in my life," he said.

EARLY DAYS ASSOCIATED PRESS RECOUNTED BY TEXAN WHO SAW LAST BIG BATTLE WITH INDIANS

By WILLIAM S. WHITE. NEW YORK, April 23.—(AP)—For Charles S. Diehl, 84 years old now and a great newspaperman long before the Maine sank in Havana Harbor, this was a day to stir old memories of many a half-forgotten campaign.

From his semi-retirement in San Antonio, Texas, Diehl, assistant general manager of The Associated Press room from 1900 to 1912, came to New York for the 25th annual meeting of the modern AP—and more particularly to attend tonight a dinner being given by Frank B. Noyes of Washington, AP's retiring veteran president, 1—his old associate.

He looked about at the visible changes in the mechanics of news gathering, that the march of years has brought and smiled.

"We (the AP founders) didn't have the faintest idea what would come out of that bottle we rubbed," he said.

"But," he added in behalf of the other years, "you haven't got any bigger news than we had."

Sitting erect, his eyes clear behind his spectacles, he talked of Custer's Last Stand, of the Spanish war and of the 20 AP men (as good men as this world ever saw) who covered it; of the time when three Americans and three German airmen were driven on reefs off Samoa in 1889 and went down horribly.

"One of our men was killed with water there at the Little Big Horn," he said, and then over the story from then on.

(That was when he was on the old Chicago Times.) I went out with our troops and had the luck to be the only newspaperman there at the last real battle in this country between soldiers and Indians. That was in 1880 at "Poplar Creek, Montana."

He said he thought the "making" of the early AP.

"John Dunning was there," he said, "and there was a thin frost on his nose when he came to the most beautiful story I ever read. I thought it was too long."

BETTY GRABLE TELLS OF MOTHER-IN-LAW'S REMARKS ON MONEY

LOS ANGELES, April 22.—(AP)—Court action on Jackie Coogan's suit for $4,000,000, accounting by his mother and stepfather of his earnings as a child star, was postponed today until May 2.

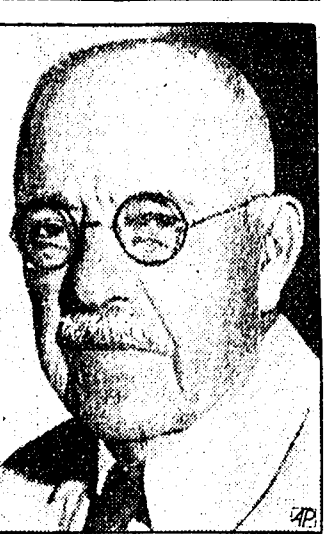

LOS ANGELES, April 22.—(AP)—Betty Grable, $500-a-week flapper, told today of ignoring a warning by her mother-in-law that she was marrying a "pauper," if she married Jackie Coogan.

As Betty described what she said were Mrs. Lillian Coogan Bernstein's efforts to break off her son's two-year engagement, Wallace Beery, a friend of Jackie's, days in the movies, rallied to his support in his legal fight for a share of his screen fortune.

A hearing was scheduled in court today on the petition by Mrs. Bernstein and Jackie's stepfather, Arthur L. Bernstein, to dismiss the receivership declared on the Coogan estate when the 23-year-old former star filed a $4,000,000 accounting suit against the couple last week.

To "the kid's" cause, Beery, a veteran star, added his word today, rubbing his jaw in a characteristic meditative gesture as he spoke.

"Not once, but many times—more than a dozen, I think—Jack told me that he had never used or intended to use a cent the boy earned."

CHARLES S. DIEHL

at first, but I couldn't put my pencil to it; I couldn't cut it. I broke down and cried. And there were other editors who cried that night."

Diehl, called "The Colonel" in the AP, went into the service in 1883.

"We had two rooms in Chicago then, one in New York," he said. "That's all. The first leased wire came on later—I remember New York, Chicago, Louisville, Cleveland, Cincinnati, St. Louis, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, Indianapolis and Pittsburgh were on it."

"It was a happy feeling to have that space. We could leave the air and the wire to the boys."

The Colonel promised Robert McLean of Philadelphia, AP vice president, to "say ten words" at the Noyes dinner tonight.

"Ten words," he repeated. "They know I'll run a thousand."

Scholarship to University Goes To Sun Reporter

John Haslam, graduate of the Corsicana high school at mid-term 1937 and reported for the Daily Sun since that time, was awarded the Whiteside Scholarship at the University of Texas, at a meeting of the committee with Mrs. K. Whiteside at her home here Friday afternoon.

The committee is composed of W. P. McCammon, president of the board of education, W. H. Norwood, superintendent of city schools and G. H. Brown, Navarro county superintendent. Mr. Brown was unable to attend the meeting and voted by proxy.

The scholarship was established in 1919 by Mrs. Whiteside in honor of the memory of her husband, the late J. E. Whiteside. The recipient receives the annual interest on a $5,000 endowment.

The following persons have received the scholarship since its foundation:

Gazette Suttle, 1919-20 and 1920-21; Elizabeth Greenlee, 1921-22; 1922-23 and 1923-24; Morton Minter, 1925-26, 1926-27 and 1927-28; Madeline Jaffe, 1928-29 and 1929-30; Jettie Hollingsworth, State Home, 1930-31 and 1931-32; Griffen, 1932-33, 1933-34 and 1934-35; Evelyn Spikes, 1935-36, 1936-37 and 1937-38.

ERNEST THOMPSON CARRIES CAMPAIGN INTO EAST TEXAS

SULPHUR SPRINGS, April 23.—(AP)—Ernest Thompson, candidate for governor, carried his campaign into East Texas today, voicing sharp opposition to cutting needy old persons from the pension rolls when their children barely can support their own families.

Thompson stressed his stand on pension regulation of utilities, farm and ranch betterment and increasing employment by industrial expansion at an East Texas rally. He cited cases of needy aged denied pensions because a son or daughter made as little as two or three dollars a month more than the cost of necessities.

UNSLATED REPRIEVE FOR TEXAS CONVICTS WHEN CHAIR FAILS

GENERATOR FAILS TWICE AT HUNTSVILLE AND EXECUTIONS DELAYED

HUNTSVILLE, April 22.—(AP)—Two men scheduled for execution in state prison here today remained alive because the electric chair failed to work. They were given a week's reprieve.

One of them, John W. Vaughn, 34, his head shaven for contact with the fatal electricity, stood within four feet of the chair, protesting his innocence, when the generator went out of order.

Johnnie Banks, 26-year-old negro preacher, was in the death cell, a few feet away, awaiting his turn. The executions, set for midnight, had been postponed until 3 a. m. while electricians worked on the equipment.

When the three hours were up, Vaughn, smiling a sly, sardonic grin, strode into the death chamber. He surveyed the group of about 40 witnesses.

"I have a speech I want to make you men," Vaughn said. "I am being executed to save another man from being executed. I am an innocent man. I am a working man with a wife and child who are forced by law to put me to death. I said a prayer today and I asked God to stop this electrocution and he has brought warning to man to realize it was against his will."

C. C. Springfield, newspaperman, said "the generator sort of grumbled and broke down again. Officials went back to the scene to inspect the generator."

"Gentlemen, I'll continue my speech," Vaughn went on. "I feel like a man who has been wronged."

Warden W. W. Wald returned, announced, "Well, we'll have to put it off." Wald started Vaughn back to death row.

"Thank you, Warden," said Vaughn. "God has heard my prayer, all right, gentlemen, you see an honest man who God loves."

Alfred telephoned Gov. James V. Alfred and arranged for a week's reprieve for Vaughn, who was sentenced in the slaying of a San Antonio motorcycle officer, A. A. (Bill) Edwards, and for a negro who slew his 9-year-old sister-in-law in a scuffle for possession of a gun.

A stretcher brought into the death chamber reposed in a corner while witnesses filed out. The flange of the equipment fixed Banks, scheduled to go first, was standing at the door to the execution chamber. On the second attempt, Vaughn came first.

In death row also was Selma Canedo, convicted in the slaying of a San Antonio druggist. Gov. Alfred granted him a 30-day reprieve yesterday.

May Get Few More Days. ALBUQUERQUE, April 22.—(AP)—Selma Canedo, convicted San Antonio slayer granted an additional 30 days of life yesterday by Gov. James V. Alfred, may receive a few more days due to an apparent oversight by the governor.

Alfred issued a straight 30-day reprieve, evidently overlooking that this would set the execution back to Sunday.

He further action except on recommendation of the pardon board but the board probably will consent to a slightly longer delay.

No Texas electrocution ever has been held Sunday.

The scheduled triple electrocution early today at the Huntsville penitentiary failed to materialize even in part. Canedo was given a reprieve to permit further investigation of his case and a breakdown of the electric chair motor forced a week's postponement for two other condemned men.

Papa Dionne Asks Investigation Of His Quintuplets

OTTAWA, April 22.—(Canadian Press).—Olivia Dionne, the Callander farmer-father of the quintuplets, is trying to get a judicial investigation of the way their lives and finances are being managed by their guardians.

An Ottawa lawyer, Henri St. Jacques, announced last night he had been retained by Dionne and had sent the request for a judicial investigation to Attorney General Canant of Ontario.

This presented the possibility of the amazing story of the quintuplets' birth, their fight for life, and their story-book accumulation of a fortune of $750,000 made in movies and advertising would be told for the first time in a law court.

St. Jacques said his purpose was to learn if the fortune were being dissipated. He was aware, he added, that the funds are subject to government audit.

YOUTH SERIOUSLY WOUNDED RESULT ACCIDENTAL SHOT

Leonard Petty, aged 14 years, son of Mrs. Corbett, was accidentally shot in the head Thursday night at 8:45 o'clock by a .32-calibre pistol in the hands of Corbett, 16, it was reported Friday.

The youth is in a serious condition at the P. and S. hospital. The accident occurred at the home of Dewey's father, Arthur Dewey, West Eighth avenue. It was reported the wounded youth was playing a guitar, dropped his pick and as he reached to retrieve it, the gun in his friend's hands was accidentally discharged, the bullet striking him in the head.

The youth is employed at the Burney Feed Store.

DI MAGGIO SIGNED CONTRACT MONDAY; PAY NOT STARTED

NEW YORK, April 25.—(AP)—Joe DiMaggio signed his $25,000 contract with the New York Yankees this morning, with the baseball season just one week old, but his pay will not begin until he has satisfied Manager Joe McCarthy he is in condition to play.

The slugging outfielder and major league home run king stands to lose at least $1,300, for being a W. O. L. for eight days, including today, and may be "doctored" a total of $2,000 before he re-enters the lineup.

At his own suggestion DiMaggio did not accompany the Yankees to Philadelphia today, but arranged, instead, to work out at the Yankee stadium.

"There's just one thing I want to make clear," said Colonel Jacob Ruppert, Yankee owner, after he and his star player affixed their signatures to the contract. "There's no bonus. That's right, isn't it, Joe?"

"That's right," said DiMaggio. "And another thing: This is the first contract I've signed for 1938."

YOUNG WOMAN SAYS FED RAT POISON TO BROTHERS WHO DIED

NEW YORK, April 23.—(AP)—Assistant District Attorney Edmund Rowan said today that Elizabeth Wagner, 22-year-old factory worker, had confessed killing her brothers, Henry, 21, and Charles, 14, by feeding them rat poison. Rowan said the girl told him after an all-night questioning that she had administered the poison in her brothers' meals over a period of a week. She was charged with homicide and held for arraignment later today in felony court.

The assistant district attorney said Miss Wagner told him, she did not know why she gave the poison to her younger brother but that she was angry at Henry because he shouted at her and once struck her in the face, knocking out two teeth.
